
HDPE Fencing Designed to Protect Your Equestrian Investment

BILL FYNN
October 5, 2020

“Oh give me land, lots of land and the starry skies above”, crooned cowboy Gene Autry. He obviously wasn’t singing about the constant costs and efforts to protect the horses from wandering off or being hurt.

Nor was Mr. Autry sentimental about the constant fencing and gate repairs.

Even in this era of Covid 19, your horses need to be corralled with the assurance that the fences will not splinter or crack over time, like wood, and that the fences are low-maintenance, strong and resilient.

After investing so much in tack and shelter, vet bills and the horses, themselves, investing in smart fencing and gated containment just makes sense.

As wood prices continually increase, SMARTERFENCE™ HDPE high density polyethylene large animal profiles, manufactured by Bedford Technologies, is a quality, durable solution that withstands extreme weather conditions and lasts a lifetime!

SMARTERFENCE™ is rugged and won’t be damaged by animal abuse since it is infused with fiberglass that won’t rot or get insect infestations!

In addition, HDPE profiles are aesthetically appealing, animal safe, and environmentally-friendly.

Basically made from recycled consumer water bottles, there are no chemicals to leach into the soil or water and feed troughs.

HDPE containment and fencing lumber conveniently comes in standard wood measurements or can be customized to just the right lengths needed for any size project. An added feature is easy, convenient delivery from manufacturer directly to the construction site!

HDPE is versatile. It can keep your horses and large animals safe on your land and limit unwanted visitors and animals from other ranches from wandering onto your ranch, as well as provide secure spaces in stables and corrals. In addition, it is practical for conveniences such as picnic tables and benches.

With HDPE, a lot of headaches and worries are resolved.

Maybe, just maybe, in the spirit of the cowboy serenade, you just might find yourself humming, “Just turn me loose, let me straddle my old saddle underneath the western skies....” knowing you are nicely fenced in!

High Tek Deck Inc. is a nationwide resource and prime distributor of high quality, environmentally friendly, sustainable HDPE profiles. For more information and to arrange a Zoom conference or a customized presentation, please call Bill Flynn, CEO, at: (650) 368-7957 or e-mail: bill@hightekdeck.com.